Steve Herrington of Ingleside holds up his catch at the Northern Illinois Conservaton Club annual fishing derby held on Channel Lake in Antioch. Herrington caught a flat-head catfish that measured 36 1/4 inches in length.

Fishing derby goes on despite weather

By STEVE PETERSON

speterson@mwnnewsgruop.com

ANTIOCH - The cold weather did not stop hundreds of ice fishermen from dropping a line and putting up a shanty on Channel Lake for the 48th Chain O' Lakes Fishing Derby.

Tom Olandese of Fox Lake was hoping to do as well as he did last year, winning an award for crappie caught.

Olandese, 55, didn't win, but said he has been coming to the Northern Illinois Conservaton Club event for 25 years.

"I come with my son, who is three and one-half and caught a fish last summer on Lake Marie, a wall-eye," he said.

NICC members stressed the family nature of the event, with some parents involved in the event since its beginning in 1960 to youngsters fishing today.

The difficult weather has had an affect on the sport.

"With all the snow, it is not as accessible to get to the lakes as usual," Tom O'Connell said.

A food drive, kids games and cash and prizes worth $3,000 were all available at the Feb. 9 and 10 event at the Thirsty Turtle in Antioch.

"I have been the fishing judge for 15 years and a club member for 24," Peter Poli said.

"It is great to see the looks on people's faces. We have families who have been coming here for three generations."

Organizers said the food drive went well. The donations went to Open Arms Mission in Antioch. Kids games and the conservation cafe were back for the weekend.

A group of anglers were on hand from Algonquin, Spring Grove and Round Lake.

"It is still a good event; you get to fish with others," Paul Jay said.

For more information, call NICC at 847-395-NICC, or visit the Web site, www.mynicc.org.

First meals, blogs, and going for the gusto

I had my first true Lake County experience last week.

New to the area and feeling a bit peckish as noon rolled around, I asked my new co-workers where I could go for lunch that was healthy. (I have to watch my cholesterol.)

I was directed to Sweet Susie's, a nice little deli and chocolate shop in downtown Grayslake where I had a barbecue pork sandwich (so much for the cholesterol) and a glass of water.

It's always a strange and wonderful feeling eating for the first time in a new city. There was nothing particular strange about the sandwich - it was quite tasty, in fact - but it felt foreign sitting in a place I've never been before on a road I've never driven on before in a city I've only been to a few times before.

It's not a new feeling. I've been a bit of a wanderer since graduating college in 2003, with jobs in La Salle, Sycamore, Crystal Lake, Elgin and now Lake County. But I still remember the first place I ate in every town. And, yes, every meal was strange and wonderful.

So now that I've gotten that first meal out of the way, I'm ready to explore the rest of Lake County. If you have any suggestions of cool places to visit, please e-mail me at jgrace@nwnewsgroup.com.

If you turn to page 11A of your Journal, you'll find my Going for Gusto column. Also, you can go to LakeCountyJournals.com to read the column more often on the Going for Gusto blog.

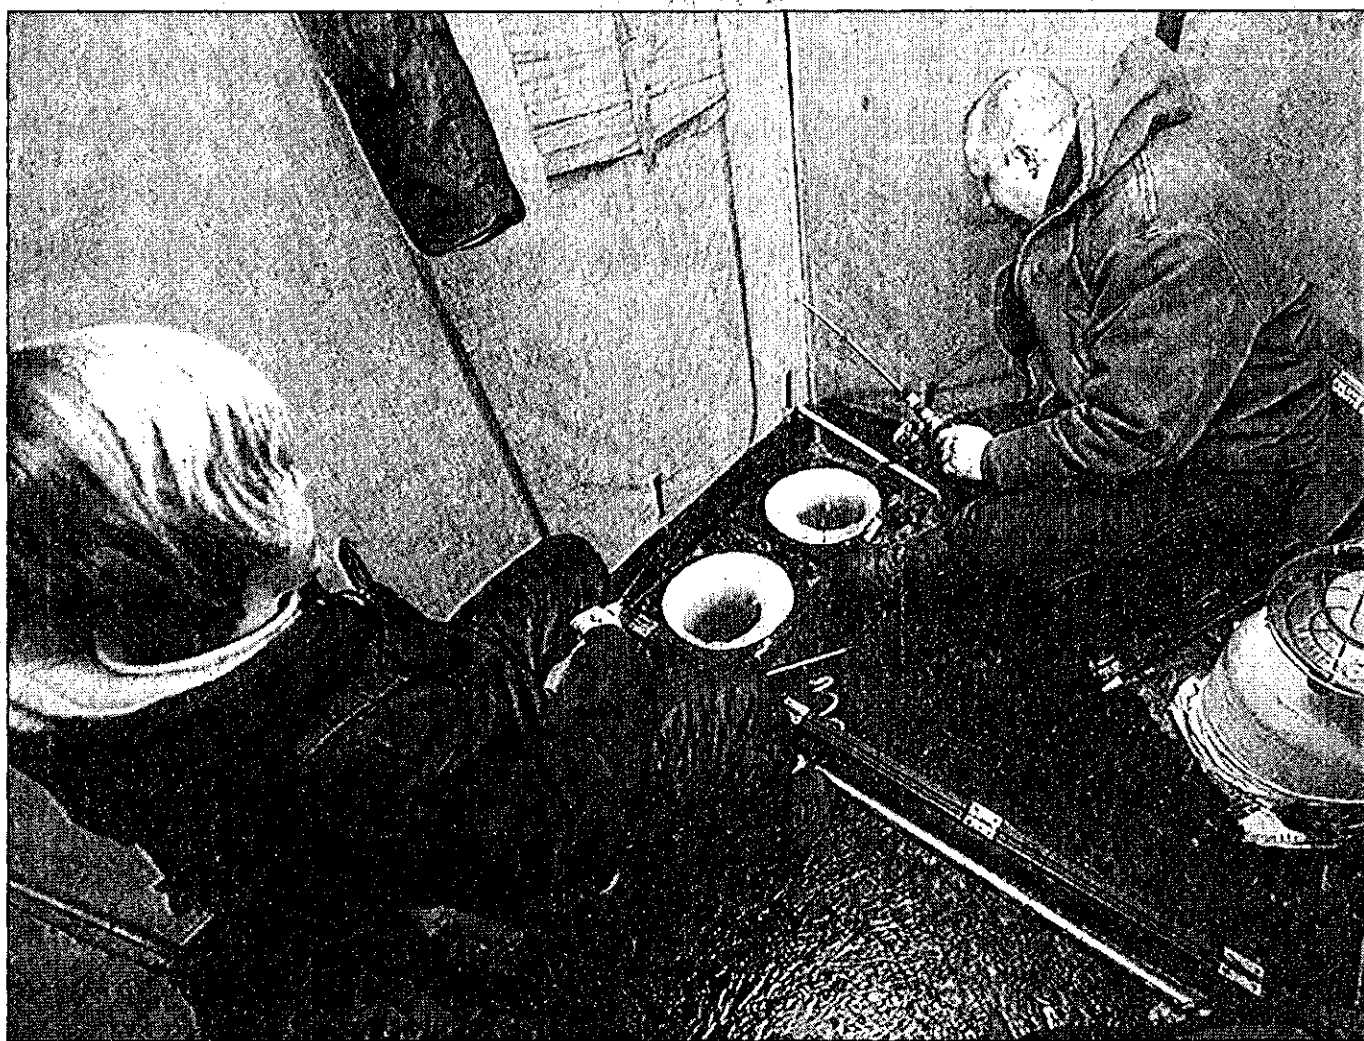

I came up with the name of the column while reading an old "Calvin and Hobbes" strip in which Calvin puts on a cape and a space helmet before going to school in order to change his day up a bit.

In much the same way, I hope to change your day up a bit by highlighting the wonderful and humorous in our world and our communities.

I also plan on writing about positive news in our communities and highlighting the best our communities have to offer.

You can write to Joe Grace at jgrace@nwnewsgroup.com.

Lake County pageant queens make Valentine's Day special for area seniors

By DANI SCHWEIGERT
dschweigert@nwnewsgroup.com

INGLESIDE — Remember that warm and fuzzy feeling you got when you were a kid and someone handed you a valentine on Valentine's Day?

Twenty-five pageant queens from Lake County made sure area seniors remembered that feeling this Valentine's Day by making valentines for residents at Hillcrest Nursing Center in Round Lake Beach and Lakeland Apartments in Fox Lake. The queens gathered Feb. 9 at Grant Township Center in Ingleside and chatted and laughed as they decorated construction-paper valentines.

"I hope it puts a smile on their faces," said Junior Miss Round Lake Area Celina Porretta, 14. "It just shows that we care."

Little Miss Round Lake Area Adriana Rodriguez, 8, agreed.

"They're elders, and they need cards to feel better for Valentine's Day," she said. "It's a lot of fun."

Round Lake Area pageant coordinator Lisa Stay said the valentines were delivered that day and Monday, Feb. 11.

"It's community service," Stay said. "It's not about being a queen or the crown; it's about helping the community."

Lisa's daughter Lyrik, 5, is this year's Tiny Miss Round Lake Area.

Lyrik and the other queens were dressed in Valentine's Day attire, and those with the most festive outfits won a prize. And, of course, the queens also wore their crowns and sashes.

But the holiday outfits

Pageant queens from throughout Lake County make valentines at the Grant Township Offices in Ingleside. The valentines will go to Lakeland Apartments in Fox Lake and Hillcrest Nursing Center in Round Lake Beach.

were the only Valentine's Day-oriented aspect of the event.

The room in which the queens made valentines was filled with pink, white and red flowers, streamers and paper hearts.

While queens said they had a great time making valentines, Pat McKie, director of the Grant Township pageant, said the girls also were fulfilling their commitment to the community.

"We want these kids to be involved in giving back to the community," she said. "It's not just pretty little faces; it's about giving back. We want them to have fun and walk away from their reign and say, 'This made me a better person.'"

Teens rock the house

Toxic Brick House welcomes all ages on Sundays

By YADIRA SANCHEZ OLSON
ysanchez@nwnewsjournal.com

Check it out

What: The Toxic Brick House all-ages night
When: Sundays
Where: 750 W. Highway 173 in Antioch
Contact: Evie Amelio at 847-395-6185.

their new all-ages night on Sundays.

"We're really happy that we have this happening on Sunday because there really is no other venue for this in Lake County," Amelio said.

On the all-ages' opening night Feb. 10, the Toxic Brick House posted signs on the walls of the entrance that read NO ALCOHOL BEYOND THIS POINT. And sheets covered the bottles on the shelves behind the bar. Children began to come into the club and look around in awe as if they were entering a new realm in a galaxy far, far away.

"This is really cool and a good idea," said 14 year-old Trevor Olsen of Antioch. "Most local scenes are kind of shady because you've got guys who are so much older but here you get to be with your crowd."

Olsen is a member of Third

Stall, an alternative band that is scheduled to play at The Toxic Brick House in March.

The bands that played that night were rock band Janet Knows, rock band Definite Change, punk band The Allies, and punk band The Revision Plan.

Amelio said the four young bands played to a crowd of about 115 people.

There was a cover charge of $6 at the door and $5 with a flier of one of the bands playing that night. The band with the most fliers at the end of the night got $25. The winning band was The Allies.

"It's really important to have an all-ages place because we're young and so our most passionate fan base are younger kids," said 18 year-old Michelle Katz of Grayslake.

Katz is a member of The Allies and said that her band heard about the all-ages Sundays through word of mouth.

The Toxic Brick House will continue to be a 21 and older nightclub on Fridays and Saturdays. Amelio said that on Sundays, The Toxic Brick House also will include open mic nights, disc jockey dance parties, and, of course, the bands for all ages.

Lakes girls basketball team earn 1st victory

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsjournal.com

LAKE VILLA - This was not just another manic Monday.

In Lake Villa, specifically at Lakes High School, and even more to the point, for the Lakes High School girls basketball team, this was a magical Monday. Its 70-21 convincing win over St. Scholastica Academy gave Lakes a 1-0 record. More importantly, it gave hope for the future, which is Tuesday against Regina Dominican in the IHSA Class 3A Grayslake Central Regional.

"I am just so happy for the seniors," Lakes coach Elizabeth Hart Hinkle said. "They got over the hump, the first one."

Hinkle then lamented the below-zero weather, as she was given a sneak dousing of ice water during a would-be team photo.

"Coach stood with us the whole way," said senior Sarah Spicer, who scored 14 points. "At halftime she said don't think it is over because we still had 16 minutes to play."

"The kids all had a good attitude and stuck together," said Andy Spicer, Sarah's dad.

Fellow senior Mandy Schellinger, who led the winners, yes, winners, with 21 points on 10 field goals, said the team was determined coming into the Feb. 11 game.

"That was our goal when we came here three years ago," Schellinger said. "We're all very tight as a team and kept our focus on the defense."

Junior Amber Lane scored 11 points for the Eagles (1-27) and set the tone early against the Stingers. Lakes led 10-5 after one quarter, and a trey by Jess Yoko was part of a 21-0 run. That run would send all talk of hexes out of town.

With a minute to go, the public address announcer urged all Eagles fans to stand. They did on command. This was their night, too.

Junior Amber Lane scored 11 points and set the tone early against the Stingers, a Chicago school.

How much of this night belonged to the Eagles? So much so that even some non-regular starters held their own early.

Boys Scouts honor ex-resident

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

ANTIOCH - Jacob R.W. Schweit, 18, a former resident of Antioch, has earned the rank of Eagle Scout in the Boys Scouts of America.

A ceremony in his honor was Feb. 8, in Centreville, Va., where he resides: a full color guard from Troup 1995 attended.

Born in Arlington Heights, Schweit attended St. Peter's Catholic School in Antioch and is now a senior at Westfield High School.

He will attend Western Illinois University in the fall to study history.

The rank of Eagle Scout is the highest attainable rank in Boy Scouts and marks the end of Schweit's 10-year effort to earn the honor.

To advance to this rank, all Scouts must plan and organize a leadership project, which assists a religious institute school or the community.

For his project, Schweit organized a group of 22 volunteers, who cleared brush, took down trees and removed under brush to re-establish the main walk trail through the battlefield in Manassas National Battlefield Park in Manassas, Va.

Geo-Karis remembered for public service

State senator was 1st woman dean of Senate

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@mwnewsgroup.com

ZION - Praise for longtime Lake County state Sen. Adeline Jay Geo-Karis is coming from all corners.

Geo-Karis first was elected as a Republican representative in 1972. She then served as 31st District state senator from 1979 to 2007.

Geo-Karis, 89, died Feb. 10, 2008. Funeral services are pending.

"It is tragic," Lake County Republican Chairman Dan Venturi said. "She has done a lot for the community and was a pioneer state legislator. She was a trailblazer as a state legislator and had a phenomenal legislative record. She will never be replaced."

Sen. Geo-Karis was the first woman to be dean of the Senate.

"We did not agree on every issue, but we agreed in the long run," Lake County Board Chairman Suzi Schmidt said. "I learned a lot from Geo. I learned who we work for."

Schmidt said Geo-Karis' passing was noted at the Lake County Board meeting Feb. 11.

Geo-Karis was the first woman in Illinois history to serve in Senate leadership. She served 10 years, from 1993 to 2003, as assistant senate majority leader. She served in the state House of Representatives from 1972 to 1978. She was co-chairman of the Senate Executive Appointments Committee and served as a member of the Financial Institutions Committee and Legislative Reference Bureau. She was the first woman elected to both the Illinois House and Senate, and the first woman named as Lake County assistant state's attorney and justice of the peace.

Sen. Geo-Karis also was the former mayor of Zion and, while no longer a legislator, she still had the title of precinct committeewoman. She was re-elected to that post Feb. 5. Geo-Karis lost in the primary to Suzanne Simpson, R-Gurnee.

Geo-Karis led her own law firm in Zion and had many municipal clients.

She was a former lieutenant commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Parks named in her honor include Adeline J. Geo-Karis State Beach Park, a park in Gurnee and a skate park in Fox Lake.

Born March 29, 1918, in Tegeas, Greece, she came to the United States in 1922. She graduated from Northwestern University and DePaul University Law School.

She was a past president of the parish board of trustees and ladies auxiliary at St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church in Waukegan.

Chivalry still exists

Knights in shining armor do exist.

Contrary to public opinion, chivalry is not dead. It is alive and well and living in Wauconda under the guise of Shawn Weber.

Once upon a time, in the tiny village of Wauconda there lived a fair maiden called Debbi Maximoff. One morning, after a hefty snowfall, Debbi got into her car with the intention of driving to work.

However, she got no farther than the end of her driveway, where she became thoroughly stuck in a pile of snow.

Try as she might, rocking the car back and forth, she couldn't get the vehicle to budge.

"Oh woe is me" the fair maiden bemoaned. "What am I to do? Where is a knight in shining armor when you need one?"

Just then, a passing car pulled to the curb and a knight jumped out. The knight turned out to be a good samaritan named Shawn Weber, whose armor actually looked like a business suit and warm jacket.

He came over to Debbi's car and said, "Excuse me, miss, but you look like you could use a little help. Do you have a shovel?"

Debbi found one quickly and Sir Shawn then spent more than half an hour shoveling her out of her sorry situation. He then instructed her to pull up in the driveway and proceeded to push her into the street.

At this point, a neighbor joined him in the pushing effort. Soon, Debbi was headed to work. Shawn continued on his long trek to his job in Waukegan.

Meanwhile the fair maiden rolled along singing, "Didn't you know that you're my hero" as she went.

A round of applause for the kind neighbor Shawn Weber, knight in shining armor, good samaritan, rescuer of damsels in distress and all-around nice guy.

Pins and prizes

Things are humming over at the Wauconda Bowl where the Humdinger is humming along. It is the 53rd year the Wauconda Bowl has hosted the annual Humdinger Bowling Tournament. The big bowling bash is from January through April. Lots of fine prizes and fun await the entrants. If you're a sanctioned bowling buff and haven't entered, you might still have a chance. Call Wauconda Bowl and check at 847-526-5030. If you can't bowl, you can always watch. Bowling fans, this should be right up your alley. So keep things humming.

INGLESIDE - Barbara Wilson remembers her grandmother teaching her something about the outdoors before she had her first day in kindergarten.

"I learned the wildflowers from my grandmother in England before kindergarten," Wilson said at the No Child Left Inside conference.

Wilson was among 50 environmental volunteers and educators interested in the outdoors who attended the seminar at Volo Bog State Natural Area. Wilson, of Lake in the Hills, volunteers with McHenry County Conservation District sites activities.

Terri Bridge of Deer Park also spends a lot of her time on environmental education. She is a member of the Vehe Farm Foundation, an 8-year-old group that has restored a Deer Park farm structure.

"We have nature programs there and local groups," Bridge said. "We get parents and grandparents involved."

One by one, participants told of how their childhood was shaped by the outdoors. With tasks such as finding a fishing hole or a vacant lot or spot near an expressway, outdoors meant adventure. The group had folks from as far away as Galesburg.

"This is such a magical place in the winter time," Volo Bog naturalist Stacy Iwanicki said in her opening remarks Feb. 9. "The bog was 10,000 years in the making. We have a group of amazing volunteers here."

Iwanicki told those sitting in a circle Feb. 9 that the idea for the conference stemmed from talks given by author Richard Louvre to environmental educators.

Seminar attendees also heard from Illinois Department of Natural Resources' Val Jeener; Jan Ward of Lake County Forest Preserve about the young Mighty Acorns program; Mary Kozub of McHenry County Conservation District; Marty Kenahan, regional coordinator for Chicago Wilderness group; Naomi Dietzel-Dulin from Prairie Crossing Charter School in Grayslake.

John Elliott of the Forest Preserve of Cook County was one of the keynote speakers for NCLI.

"It is important to have mentors for the children's interest in the outdoors," Elliott said. "Being outdoors was just part of growing up. The personal interest in the outdoors has gotten to be a crisis level."

Elliott, a naturalist, described how state legislature law founded the Forest Preserve of Cook County and had such early sites as the Dan Ryan Woods. The early initiatives included simply taking adults on nature walks.

Obstacles to increasing environmental education include fear and negative news reporting of bad things that happen in the outdoors.

"You have to protect the outdoor spaces because they are shrinking all the time," Elliott said. "Parents should encourage kids to have a positive image of the outdoors."

Cabin fever reliever supports soldiers

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Feb. 23, a group of women from Lake County Association for Home & Community Education (LCAHCE) will gather with sewing machines to make neck coolers for the soldiers. This is part of an ongoing project to support U.S. soldiers in Iraq and Afghanistan through the organization Operation to Support our Troops in Naperville.

In the coming months, soldiers will face extreme temperatures. So LCAHCE members decided to make neck coolers to help keep the soldiers cool. This is a handkerchief of sorts filled with absorbent crystals. It holds water for a few hours and when placed around the neck keeps one cool. This project is one of many the group supports. The following are some groups LCAHCE supports: The Lake County Literacy program (books collected, handmade hats and scarves); Linus blankets made especially for children in the hospital and others in need; cancer pillows sewn for breast cancer patients; and Winchester House in Libertyville.

To join the organization, contact either Angela Hicks at 847-516-1529 or Betty Wertke at 815 385-4243.

The popular test that asks which candidate would you rather have a beer with needs to be put to bed, columnist John Matijevich writes. The test is supposed to give a hint to which candidate the public deems trustworthy, but after President George W. Bush won the last two elections, maybe it's time we come up with a better test.

College of Lake County hosts annual motion picture event

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

Check it out

GRAYSLAKE – The fifth annual Lake County Film Festival will take place Feb. 28 to March 3. The event will feature the best of independent cinema at the College of Lake County in Grayslake. This year's festival is one of the biggest yet with 17 feature length documentaries, 17 narrative features, and more than 100 short films. As with last year, many of the filmmakers will be in attendance to present their films.

Festival highlights include the closing night film, "Grace Is Gone," which premiered at the Sundance Film Festival, where it won the Audience Award, and was nominated for two Golden Globes. "Grace Is Gone" stars Chicago native John Cusack as a man whose wife is killed in Iraq and he can't figure out how to tell his two daughters.

There are two other films with impressive film festival pedigrees. The first is "Wristcutters: A Love Story," another Sundance Film Festival alum, which won Best Feature at Gen Art Film Festival and was nominated for two Independent Spirit Awards. "Wristcutters" stars Patrick Fugit (Almost Famous) as a young pizza delivery boy who commits suicide, only to find himself in an alternate and bizarre world.

The other is "Last Stop for Paul," a heart-warming comedy/drama about two friends who travel the world spreading a friend's ashes. "Last Stop for Paul" has been shown at more than 100 film festivals, and won more than 45 awards.

While not in Chicago proper, there are plenty of Chicago-based films playing, including the world premiere of "An Alternative To Slitting Your Wrist," a feature documenting a man's year-long attempt to find something worth living for after a failed suicide attempt. Another world premiere is "King In Chicago," a historical documentary about Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s work in 1966 with the Chicago Freedom Movement.

Other Chicago-based films are "Indestructible," Ben Byer's doc about his own battle with ALS and his search for a cure; romantic comedy "The Chemistry of Dating;" drama "The Half Life Of Mason Lake;" and Lake County native John Covert's film "Shut-Eye," which features Stana Katic (24, Heroes, Feast Of Love).

There are several foreign films this year, including the world premiere of "L'estate d'Inverno," an Italian drama, "Statysci," a Polish comedy and "El Violin, the Cannes and Ariel," an award-winning drama.

While last year's festival brought in more than 3,000 admissions, CLC has enabled the festival to grow to almost 100 screenings.

Almost 90 percent of the screenings will be at the Grayslake campus, with additional screenings on Saturday, March 1, at the Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan. The closing night film will be at the Landmark Theatre in Highland Park.

All college-bound high school and current college students are invited to attend, no matter where they plan to go to college.

FAFSA is the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, which must be filled out for students to be considered for state and all federal financial aid. The CLC event is part of a nationwide program called College Goal Sunday, which encourages students to apply for financial aid. For more information, visit www.collegegoalsunday.org.

Financial aid information also is available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov or at www.collegezone.com.

CLC is a College Zone outreach center for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission.

On Feb. 23, students should bring the following documents with them to CLC: a copy of 2007 Federal Tax Information (parent and student 1040EZ, 1040A or 1040 and all W2 forms), the student's driver's license and Social Security card or Student Alien Registration card if the student is not a U.S. citizen.

To learn more about financial aid opportunities or for help in applying for financial aid, call the CLC Office of Financial Aid at 847-543-2062 or e-mail fi-aid@clcillinois.edu. On Feb. 23, students should check in at the Atrium, next to the Library/Learning Resource Center. Parking is available in lots 4, 5 and 6, near the Brae Loch Road entrance to the college. The CLC Grayslake Campus is at 19351 W. Washington St.

The 60-hour course is approved by the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation and fulfills its established licensing education requirements and covers all of the major elements of home inspection.

The course will be offered from 6 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursdays March 4 through April 29 at the CLC Southlake Campus in Vernon Hills. The cost is $675. For more information or to enroll, call 847-543-2615 or visit wpdi.clcillinois.edu. The course number is PRLE 40-201.

GRAYSLAKE – Local caricature artist Abel Aguilar will be featured at the Valentine's Day art sale at the College of Lake County ARTcetera Gallery. Aguilar will draw caricature portraits for customers as part of the Valentine's Day Art Sale, being held on Feb. 13 and 14.

Aguilar is a CLC graduate who has been a caricature artist for three years. He will be available to draw caricatures from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in ARTcetera on both sale days. Black and white portraits cost $10 and take about five minutes. Color portraits are $15 and take about 10 minutes to complete.

The sale runs from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and features 10 percent off all original art, including handmade jewelry, scarves, ceramics, sculpture and photography, with 20 percent off for Friends of the Gallery. ARTcetera is adjacent to the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art in the Library/Learning Resource Center, 19351 W. Washington St. in Grayslake. Parking is available in Lots 7 and 7A, just off the Brae Loch Road entrance to the campus.

Lake County Art League members' work on display

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

The father-son artist team of Ted Foss of Antioch and Doug Foss of Wauconda are exhibiting fine-art photographs at the Lake Villa District Library, 1001 E. Grand Avenue, in Lindenhurst. Photographs on display include floral studies and breathtaking landscapes.

Chris Tanner, a Libertyville engineer, has seven watercolor paintings on display at the Viking Park Community Center at 4374 Old Grand Avenue, in Gurnee. His mostly Midwest landscapes are painted in a spontaneous and engaging plein air style that picks up a lot of the fun of painting on-the-spot. Tanner is part of a group sponsored by Lake County

Art League that holds plein air sessions at interesting locations every few weeks throughout the year. Sessions include no instruction, but they are free and open to all levels of expertise in all media, including photography. Anyone can receive plein air session notifications by calling 847-367-5308.

Waukegan native Mary Neely's fine-art nature and natural-abstract photographsmay be seen in the reception area of the Clerk of the Circuit Court and the jury waiting room in the Lake County Court House, Waukegan, Illinois.

She, along with artist Yvonne Pitts of Park City, also is participating in the Art Windows Exhibit in downtown Waukegan, which places artwork in storefronts on Genesee Street.

Hope for spring warms up soul

Has this cold, snowy, horrible, terrible winter got you down? Are you ready to spend your savings for a weekend on a tropical island where the coldest item you'll encounter is the ice in your drink?

Never fear. Springs is almost here. And every so often, I'm reminded that winter won't last forever. This morning, for example, I heard birds as I was walking out to my driveway.

Now, it wasn't the sweet singing of songbirds welcoming the coming of spring that I heard, but rather the awkward squawks of winter birds, impervious to the fact that they should have migrated to Florida eons ago.

But still, it was the sound of birds, and that sound reminds me of spring, and the thought of spring keeps me going through this harsh winter.

One of my favorite short stories is "The Last Leaf" by O. Henry. It's the tale of a woman who is dreadfully sick, but remains alive because she wants to see the last leaf fall out of a tree by her window. Alas, the leaf never drops all winter and she gets better. It's then revealed that an old man had painted a new leaf on the tree the night the last leaf fell.

I've always loved that simple story of hope and what it can do for us. And even though the birds I heard this morning aren't the real harbingers of spring, I can imagine they are and that gives me hope.

IHSA attacks free speech

The Illinois High School Association's attempts to control what newspapers can do with content that its journalists produce is a violation of the First Amendment and should be halted immediately.

The Illinois Press Association has sued the IHSA over the matter. According to the lawsuit, the IHSA has contracted with Visual Image Photography Inc. for "exclusive and unlimited access to IHSA tournament locations and photo opportunities."

Essentially, the IHSA wants VIP to have the exclusive rights to sell images taken at all IHSA events. Newspapers can cover these events photographically and print images in the paper or on their Web sites, but they can't sell any of the images, according to the IHSA's policy.

News organizations that have refused to give up their rights to do what they want with their own content have been punished.

Most recently, a photographer for the Bloomington Pantagraph was denied access to the gymnasium floor to shoot the state finals of a cheerleading competition. Just as sad is that this behavior by the IHSA sometimes has extended to parents. Last fall in Peoria, parents who were trying to take photos of the all-state cross country runners and the winning teams as they stood together at the podium with their trophies were shoed away.

The IHSA is trying to spin this as being about profits for newspapers. But it's not. Most newspapers make little money off the sale of its photographs from prep sporting events.

We feel strongly that newspapers must have the right to control their own content. The IHSA's position on this issue is an affront to the First Amendment and a disservice to parents and students.

In addition to the lawsuit, a bill was filed in the Illinois General Assembly last month that would prevent IHSA from trying to strong-arm the media over the rights to its content. We urge our local legislators to support this legislation.

If an organization such as IHSA can put restrictions on the media like this, what's next? It's a slippery slope, and anyone who believes in the sanctity of the First Amendment should be opposed to it.

Garland Road bike path

To the editor:
My family supports the effort to build a foot path along Garland Road and live in a subdivision that is accessible only by Garland Road.

I do not agree with how Wauconda Village President Sal Saccomanno and Township Supervisor Glenn Swanson and the respective board of trustees have wasted taxpayer money.

They decided an Intergovernmental Agreement for this project was a misuse of money in a project that could have exceeded $350,000.

In response to the "Village of Wauconda Update" dated Jan. 18, Mr. Saccomanno blames the residents who own the land on which they planned on building the bike path for the failure of progress.

Mr. Swanson and Mr. Saccomanno have spent in excess of $15,000 of taxpayer money to Devery Engineering on planning an 8-foot-wide path on land that they do not have right to build upon.

This detail, that everyone has overlooked, has been an issue with the Garland Road path for more than 25 years.

Logically, it seems, that early in the planning stage Devery Engineering should have brought the lack of right of way to the forefront of discussion, instead they engineered a path that could not be built on the existing right of way and accepted the taxpayer money.

The consistent and public threat of legal action by the Township and Village of Wauconda, to take private land, for this path, is unacceptable.

The use of eminent domain should be a last resort, not a first solution.

The blame of failure to build the path and spend tax money wastefully, lies clearly on the shoulders of Mr. Saccomanno, Mr. Swanson and the respective board of trustees.

Simple, low cost, and creative solutions, to the bike path right of way issue, have been overlooked and shunned by Mr. Swanson and Mr. Saccomanno such as making Garland one-way (this also would reduce traffic on the road), paving the shoulder for foot traffic or installing a sidewalk.

Under no circumstances should old growth trees be removed for this path, as planned.

The horse belongs in front of the cart ladies and gentlemen.

Blame clearly lies on the shoulders of those spending more than $15,000 in taxpayers money when they do not have a clear path secured to build upon.

By binding the bike path to the pool referendum, both ideas were doomed.

We can show our appreciation of careless spending, willing-

Praise deserved

To the editor:

On Feb. 5, our community overwhelmingly approved the no-tax-rate-increase referendum on the ballot for Grant Community High School.

This success was the direct result of good long range and financial planning on the part of the administration and school board at Grant Community High School, coupled with an outstanding volunteer effort by over 100 community people who knocked on doors, planted signs, made phone calls, wrote letters, made presentations to community groups, registered new voters, and encouraged their friends to vote "YES" for an expansion plan that will add 21 classrooms, a field house/activity center, and provide for future acquisition of property for a transportation center and offsite athletic fields.

With a student population that is currently 1,745 (in a building that is at capacity at 1,750) and expected to reach 2,300 by the year 2014, this expansion is essential for the continued quality education at Grant Community High School.

Congratulations! You read, listened, learned, and voted your convictions.

Thank you for your commitment to education, and your willingness to seek the best for our students.

Beer buddy not always best president

Every presidential year cycle, the beer wholesalers have a Web site where you can vote which candidate you would most like to have a beer with. It's their way, I'm sure, to promote beer, not a particular candidate.

As it has turned out in recent years, such a poll seems to indicate which presidential candidate is judged to be most likable. No one wants to have a beer with a snob or a dork. People enjoy tipping a beer with someone who is interesting and conversational. And it's true that voters tend to support charismatic candidates, although Richard Nixon and Jimmy Carter didn't exactly fit that mold.

When I wrote the column that we ought to find a better way to elect our presidents, I was referring to the procedural system. But I am beginning to wonder if we shouldn't also junk the "who we'd most like to share a beer with" test.

First, the beer test isn't fair to every candidate. Some might be abstain from alcoholic drinks, and you would feel awkward having a beer with a non-drinker. Some might just be "on the wagon," and you might tempt them to break their pledge of sobriety. That wouldn't be fair either. Then there are those who might be likable as all get out, but if they have more than a few with you, they turn into someone different.

Let's get down to basics. Has the beer test worked? Both in the 2000 and 2004 elections, George W. Bush, who I'm told hasn't had a beer for a number of years, won the test hands down against Al Gore and John Kerry. He also won both elections, although Gore did win the popular vote.

Can you guess where I'm going with this? Don't voters believe that the candidate who they would like to join them with a beer is the candidate who they believe will be honest, trustworthy, and likable?

After the going on eight years under President George W. Bush, I submit that the beer test has failed us. I didn't need to read a recent report by the Center for Public Integrity and Fund for Independence in Journalism that documented that Bush had lied to the American public well more than 200 times in the lead-up to the Iraq war to know that he flunked the test of truthfulness. When you count his close braintrust, the lies amount to much more. That's just on one issue, the war; you can imagine how many other lies and secrecy we have endured.

Based on President Bush's sky-high unfavorability ratings, I think that most voters, given another chance at the beer test to rate him, would opt to chase him out of the bar.

That might keep him on the wagon, but the vast majority of voters have already fallen off his bandwagon.

Before there were the beer test polls, there were the candy or ice cream polls. In those, when the sweets were bought, the store would poll the youngsters on who their favorite presidential candidate was. Naturally, the polls were quite accurate because the children normally responded with the name that they heard in the household, their parents' choices.

I would like to replace the beer test with something else. It's not easy. First, I thought, "which candidate would you most like to join you on a hunting trip test." Then I thought that would be worse. If the candidate were a guy like Vice President Dick Cheney, he not only wouldn't speak straight with us, he couldn't shoot straight, either.

Maybe we should apply the war test. Will you ever start a war without constitutional authority from Congress?

Childlike optimism

So I'm meant to have these babies. That's what they tell me. But as I sit here, days before a scheduled C-section and writing my last column for at least awhile, I'm honestly a little worried, somewhat scared and, in general, just kind of freaked out.

I'm more than ready for the delivery itself, whether the twin babies want to come out or not. At the suggestion of friends, I've even tried jumping jacks and scrubbing the floor on my hands and knees to speed up the process a little.

At my size, the jumping jacks were more like bobbing jacks, as I couldn't quite get off the floor. I just kind of flailed my arms around and wiggled, much to the amusement of my children, who thought I was impersonating a Teletubby.

At any rate, it didn't work. There are the usual worries about the health of the babies, the C-section itself, the recovery afterward and so on. But after a pregnancy filled with all sorts of sickness and some of the longest days of my life, I welcome just about anything.

What mostly freaks me out is the world that awaits me when I bring these babies home.

I've washed and folded baby clothes, blankets and towels. I've bought newborn diapers.

But I'm not prepared to handle five children ages 4 and younger.

At times, I can barely keep up with the three I have and their unique personalities.

At the same time, I'm hopeful. Because, well, I have to be.

Because I can look to my mother, who raised three children on her own with little means and lots of love. And because I can look to my own children to remind me what really matters.

I took my oldest daughter to vote with me, explained that I was picking "leaders."

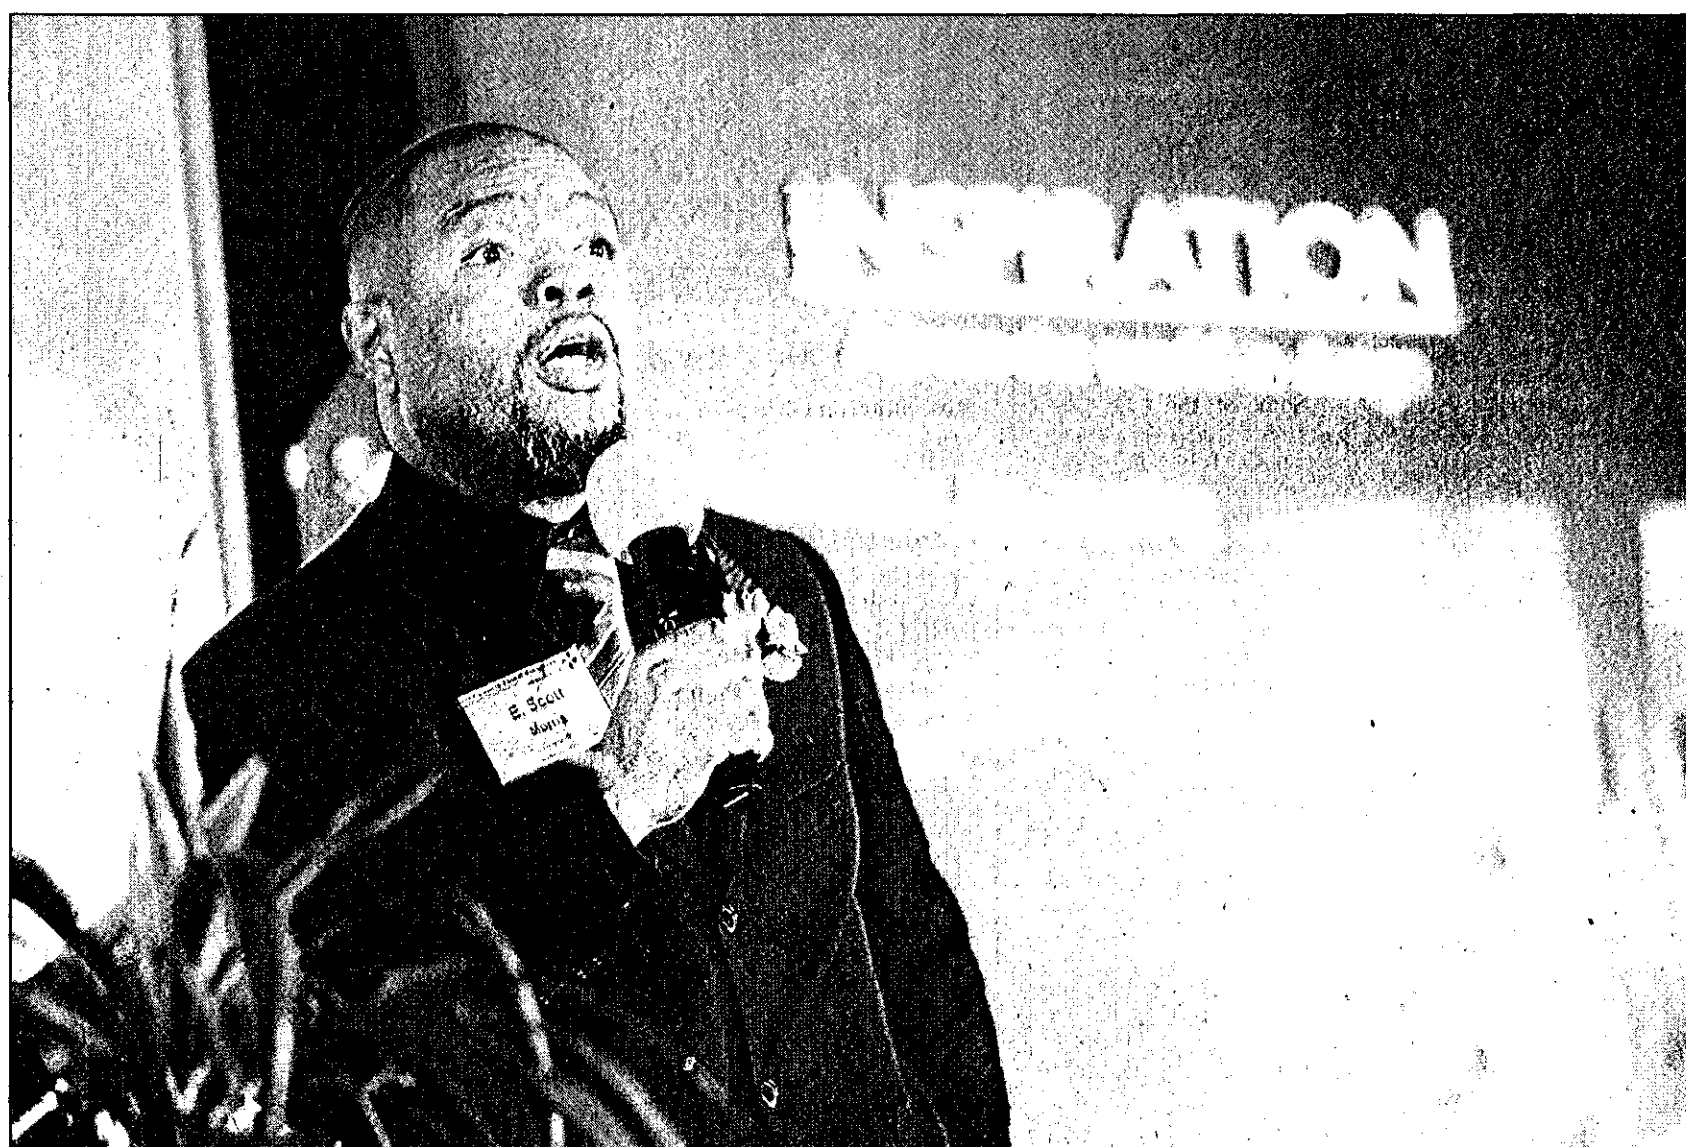

"What's a leader?" she asked.

"Someone who makes rules and stuff, kind of like a teacher runs a classroom," I said.

"I can be a leader when I grow up," she told me. "But I'm also going to be a princess, a mountain climber and a doctor and a Care Bear because they help people."

With that kind of optimism around me, how can I go wrong?

Recognizing excellence

Profiles in Excellence salutes leaders with inspirational stories

By STEVE PETERSON

NORTH CHICAGO — With speakers, church choirs and student performers, one message was clear at the 25th annual Profiles in Excellence: Young, Gifted and Black Inventors program: Each person has a gift of talent and one should always follow one's dreams.

Nike shoe designer E. Scott Morris, a North Chicago resident, did just that.

"My forte is being creative," Morris said. "That is what God gave me."

After joining the shoe industry as a designer, Morris made a career shift from Reebok to Nike, where he was then able to work with the likes of Shaquille O'Neal, LaDainian Tomlinson, Emmitt Smith and other sports stars. It has been an experience, he said.

"Kids wonder what happens when design starts to happen," Morris said. "It happens quick."

Morris got his first drafting table at age 5 and was destined for greatness from that point.

"Everybody in life will not like what you do," Morris said. "But if you did your best, that is all that was required."

The audience also heard Sandra E. Burke and her story of success as a cardiovascular research scientist and her role with the American Heart Association.

Burke, a cardiovascular researcher at Abbott Laboratories, enjoys serving in Abbott's employee mentoring program and has more than 30 years in cardiovascular research.

"I remember when my mother saw that I was a gifted student," Burke said. "She was a secretary and wrote to every resource listed in a book to try

Members of the LCFPD Diversity and Cultural Awareness Committee are Angelo D. Kyle, Forest Preserve vice president, and commissioners Mary Ross Cunningham, Robert Sabonjian and Suzi Schmidt.

The day started with a stunned Lake County Forest Preserves Commissioner Audrey Nixon receiving an award for her work on the committee and the LCFPD in general for 25 years. LCFPD Vice President Kyle was the emcee.

"Everyday I am thankful for the committee, the forest preserve and how we are blessed by God to be here as his servant," Nixon said. "This has been an excellent journey."

'Jumper' doesn't soar to success

By JEFFREY WESTHOFF
sidedracks@nwnews.com

"Jumper"

☆☆½

Genre: Adventure/drama
Writers: David S. Goyer, Jim Uhls and Simon Kinberg
Director: Doug Liman
More information: Rated PG-13 for sequences of intense action violence, some language and brief sexuality; running time is 90 minutes plot hopping at a staccato pace for the full 90 minutes. It is easy to lose yourself in the movie's speed and top-notch special effects. Christensen is the main thing that stops "Jumper" from being a total adrenaline rush.

Christensen is not a bad actor, but, as any casting director who saw the "Star Wars" prequels should know, he lacks any sort of leading man charisma.

If not for the appearance of a second Jumper, Griffin (Jamie Bell), David wouldn't learn anything about his "Highlander"-like back story. Griffin, who should have been the movie's hero, pops in just in time to save David from a couple of Roland's minions during a fight in (where else?) the Colosseum.

"Jumper" is packed with eye-popping set pieces, such as a fistfight that leaps from desert to jungle to tundra to Eastern European war zone. Liman's pacing guarantees entertainment, but the writers get too complacent with the idea of a superhero origin story.

Jeffrey Westhoff is a movie critic for the Lake County Journals. He can be reached at sidedracks@nwnews.com.

Studios love making hundreds of millions of dollars off superhero movies, but they hate sharing the profits with comic book companies.

The studios' solution is to create their own superheroes. Actually, the makers of "Jumper" didn't create David Rice (played by Hayden Christensen), who has the power to teleport himself anywhere in the world. The story is based on Steven Gould's 1993 science fiction novel.

We meet David as a shy, often bullied high school student (Max Thieriot) with a crush on the popular but sympathetic Millie (AnnaSophia Robb of "Bridge to Terabithia").

David discovers his power after falling through ice into a raging river.

The story leaps ahead eight years, and Christensen takes Thieriot's place: David has not used his powers for good. He has used them to loaf in exotic places, like the top of the Sphinx. He finances his lifestyle by popping into bank vaults and popping out with sack-loads of cash.

This idle idyll ends when Christensen's "Star Wars" colleague Samuel L. Jackson shows up with shock-white hair and that scary stare. Jackson is the mysterious Roland, who comes armed with a high-powered electrical prod to stop David from jumping and a big knife to kill him.

All this happens within the first 20 minutes. Director Doug Liman, who established his action expertise with "The Bourne Identity," keeps the

Kitchen Tune-Up; Remodeling your expectations

Remodeling perks up tired kitchens

What is the average price for a kitchen remodel?

$43,000! That was the average remodeling price for a kitchen in 2005, according to the kitchen and bath industry, and an upscale kitchen as seen in some of the design stores at the large home-improvement outlets can easily go up to $100,000. Where does that leave us average Joes, who don't have an unlimited budget, to work with?

John Lindquist, owner of Kitchen Tune-up (KTU) in McHenry, has the answer. KTU offers "Kitchen Solutions for any budget."

"I think some people get sticker shock when they look at the price of remodeling their kitchen," Lindquist said. "But there are many, many ways to update a kitchen that are much less costly."

What makes a Kitchen Tune-Up kitchen remodel different?

"Our average kitchen job last year was under $6,000," Lindquist said. "We're not trying to sell our clients more than it takes to accomplish their goals."

Because KTU carries a variety of services, it is very flexible. For clients whose cabinets are basically in good shape, but look a little dull and worn, Lindquist offers the Signature Kitchen Tune-Up job to restore a new look. Sticky hand oils, smoke and cooking oils are extracted. Worn areas are repaired and a variety of finishes are applied to protect the wood and enhance the beauty.

For clients seeking a different look, Stain Color-Matched new doors and drawer fronts can be installed. Those are solid wood, custom stained doors in a wide variety of styles that incorporate concealed hinges.

What about upgrades?

KTU also does a lot of refacing and complete cabinet replacement (or a combination) for clients desiring a new color, wood species or layout.

"A lot of people are surprised when we point out that by replacing just a couple of cabinets and refacing the rest of the doors, they can achieve the look and function of a new kitchen at substantial savings," he added. They also can offer upgrades such as glass doors, rollout trays, sliding trash bins and tip-out trays. Countertops in laminate and solid-surface materials can also be installed.

Is customer service important during the remodeling process?

These are just some of the options

John & Denise Lindquist of Kitchen Tune-Up

available to keep a kitchen project within your budget. John welcomes calls and is always happy to discuss customers' needs over the phone and schedule visits to their homes for estimates when they are ready to move forward.

"I don't think you need sales gimmicks or the cheapest price to find work," Lindquist said. "we stick with the basics like returning phone calls, showing up on time and doing the work when it's promised. We're proud of the ever increasing percentage of out work coming from referrals."

When asked about any regrets, Lindquist replied, "Often we get called in to update the kitchen when the owner is about to sell their home. We always wonder why they didn't do it earlier so they could have enjoyed it for a while."

Eggs in a nest

By JEAN KRESSY
editorial@relishmag.com

Thirty years ago, a recipe for eggs in spinach nests might have had a hard time making it to print.

Because of their cholesterol content, eggs used to be considered a health risk and took a beating in the press. By the time the dust settled, it turned out that eggs might not be as troublesome as once believed, and anyone who loved eggs felt a sense of culinary relief. Nutrition experts now say there is a place in healthy diets for all foods, including eggs. The trick is to not focus on a single food, but to strive for variety and moderation. And so, egg consumption, which had fallen to a record low in 1991, rebounded and continues to rise.

Egg recipes run the gamut from fast and easy scrambled to time-consuming souffles. One of the best combinations is eggs and spinach. Eggs in spinach nests can be the busy cook's answer to eggs Benedict. Instead of poaching eggs individually, they're baked right in the spinach and served on English muffins. It's an easy recipe to embellish, but any way you eat it, it makes a terrific brunch or supper dish.

Oven-poached eggs
in spinach nests
(Serves 8)

Ingredients
Spinach nests:
Cooking spray
3 eggs
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
16 ounces small-curd cottage cheese
4 (10-ounce) boxes frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well-drained
1/2 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground black pepper

Eggs:
8 eggs

Oven-poached eggs
in spinach nests

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss or Parmesan cheese

4 English muffins, split and toasted
1/2 cup slivered red bell pepper, optional
1/2 cup slivered onion, optional

Directions

Preheat oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Coat a 13-by-9-inch baking dish with cooking spray.

To prepare the spinach nests, combine eggs, flour and cottage cheese; whisk well. Add spinach, salt and pepper; stir well. (This can be done up to two days ahead).

Press mixture into prepared dish. Make eight indentations with the back of a spoon (this is where the eggs will later be placed). Bake 25 minutes.

Remove from oven and, using a spoon, hollow the nests out even more deeply.

Break an egg into each indentation. Bake 15 minutes, or until whites are set. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 1 minute.

Place 1 egg and spinach nest on English muffin half. Garnish with slivered red pepper and onion, if desired.

Savor the history of chocolate

Most people are hard-pressed to resist the appeal of chocolate.

(MS) — Chocolate treats are a favorite worldwide. Holidays such as Halloween and Valentine's Day see chocolate consumption go through the roof, as sweet snacks are the centerpiece of these occasions.

The average American consumes 10 to 12 pounds of chocolate per year, and residents of Switzerland, one of the top chocolate-producing regions of the world, consume a whopping 21 pounds of chocolate each year.

When enjoyed in moderation, chocolate can actually have health benefits. Research has indicated that dark chocolate is high in antioxidants, those nutritional elements responsible for fending off diseases in the body. Therefore treating your valentine to chocolate will be good for his or her heart in both the physical and romantic sense. Also, chocolate is known to be a mood-booster. Chemicals in chocolate affect levels of the body's mood-affecting chemicals, including serotonin, endorphins, and phenylethylamine. This can bring a feeling of euphoria, which only enhances sensations of romance and love. Perhaps this is why chocolate has been linked to Valentine's Day celebrations.

The sweet confection that most enjoy and know today as chocolate is very different from the chocolate of the past. Chocolate comes from the cacao bean, which grows on a tropical evergreen called the cacao tree. These trees are very delicate and often do not produce fruit until 4 to 5 years of age. It is surmised that the world was introduced to cacao when Christopher Columbus first visited the Americas and brought back samples of cacao beans, but explorer Hernando Cortez was instrumental in creating the commercial fever associated with chocolate.

During his conquest of Mexico, Cortez witnessed local Aztec Indians using cacao beans in the preparation of a drink used in royal celebrations. Emperor Montezuma was reported to drink 50 or more servings of this chocolate brew per day, and regularly served it as a regal drink in golden goblets to guests. It was thought to be a drink of the gods. However, the drink was very bitter and not readily enjoyed by the Spanish. To make the beverage more palatable, Cortez imagined sweetening it with sugar cane. When Cortez brought the cacao back to Spain, the concoction underwent more changes to fit the tastes of the citizens.

Eventually cacao spread to Europe, where different people experimented with extracting ingredients from the beans to make different chocolate products. Beans were pressed to extract the cacao butter, a fat that occurs naturally in the beans. Chocolate became smoother and the chocolate beverage became more like the flavor known today. Solid eating chocolate was developed in England in 1847 and replaced the coarse, grainy variety that dominated the market. However, it wasn't until 1876 when Daniel

Peter in Switzerland developed a way to add milk to the chocolate-making process, giving birth to milk chocolate, that chocolate truly became the product we know today.

Milton Hershey, who invented his own spin on milk chocolate in 1894, played an enormous role in introducing many Americans to the appeal of affordable milk chocolate. The candy giant achieved great fame with mass-produced chocolate bars. In 1907 Hershey's trademark Hershey's Kisses were introduced, even further entwining the notion of chocolate with romance. The familiar paper tails that peak outside of the kisses were introduced in 1924 to distinguish the Hershey variety from imitators who were cropping up at this time.

Today, chocolate comes in just about every variety imaginable, from milk to dark to semi-sweet to flavors in between. Chocolate is a favorite dessert around the world. Whether enjoyed solid, melted or stirred in beverages, it is likely that chocolate will remain a perennial favorite.

Second Wayne's Pizza Opens: More Of A Good Thing

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER

Wayne's Pizza has been the place to go for pizza in the Third Lake/Grayslake area for the past 20 years. Now father and daughter, Wayne and Jessica Dayment, have teamed up to open another location at 333 Route 45 in Lindenhurst.

Jessica said they've been busy selling the same great pizza since opening their doors on December 15. "Dad's recipes are very good. He took a long time perfecting them," she said. She added that her father has been making pizza for 30 years.

Twenty-one year old Jessica brings enthusiasm to the business, as well as 7 years experience working in her father's restaurant. She and the staff were warm and engaging, and the service was quick.

Wayne's has thin crust, "double-decker", and pan pizza. The thin crust, cheese and pepperoni pizza I tried had a generous amount of fresh pepperoni sandwiched between two layers of melted cheese; the sauce had a satisfying punch.

The restaurant also has a full menu that includes hot dogs, hamburgers, sandwiches, appetizers, and even dinners. "People really like our homemade Italian beef and our spaghetti," Jessica noted. Prices are very reasonable. For example, a 21 shrimp dinner with French fries and coleslaw is only $5.95.

And don't forget dessert. Wayne's has soft serve ice cream and 8 flavors of hand-packed ice cream all year round. So try a shake or sundae and enjoy a bit of summer.

In addition to carry out and delivery, the new Wayne's Pizza has a fun dining area with seating for 40. The space has the feel of a 1950s diner, with stainless steel dinettes and vintage photos on the walls. The red, white, and black color scheme echoes this theme, along with model cars and a Coke machine from the period. The dining area is ideal for birthday parties and team get-togethers.

Wayne's Pizza also has a vari-

IHSA keeps expanding

Further expansion by the IHSA almost assuredly will be met with skepticism across the state.

Many will think the IHSA simply continues with the "youth sports mentality" that everyone needs to get a medal to feel good about themselves.

That's overreacting to the ultimate degree.

For the sixth-largest state in the country, it seems only fair that the IHSA should spread the wealth a little bit. So, Feb. 11, the IHSA board of directors voted to expand from two to three classes in wrestling, boys soccer and girls soccer.

Boys and girls track and field also will expand from two to three classes, although that sport's expansion already had been approved. The IHSA delayed the move in track to determine a logical way to run three state track meets in one weekend. The member schools that responded did so in favor of a plan for a three-day state meet, with one class' preliminary heats and flights on Thursday, the other two on Friday and all three state finals on Saturday.

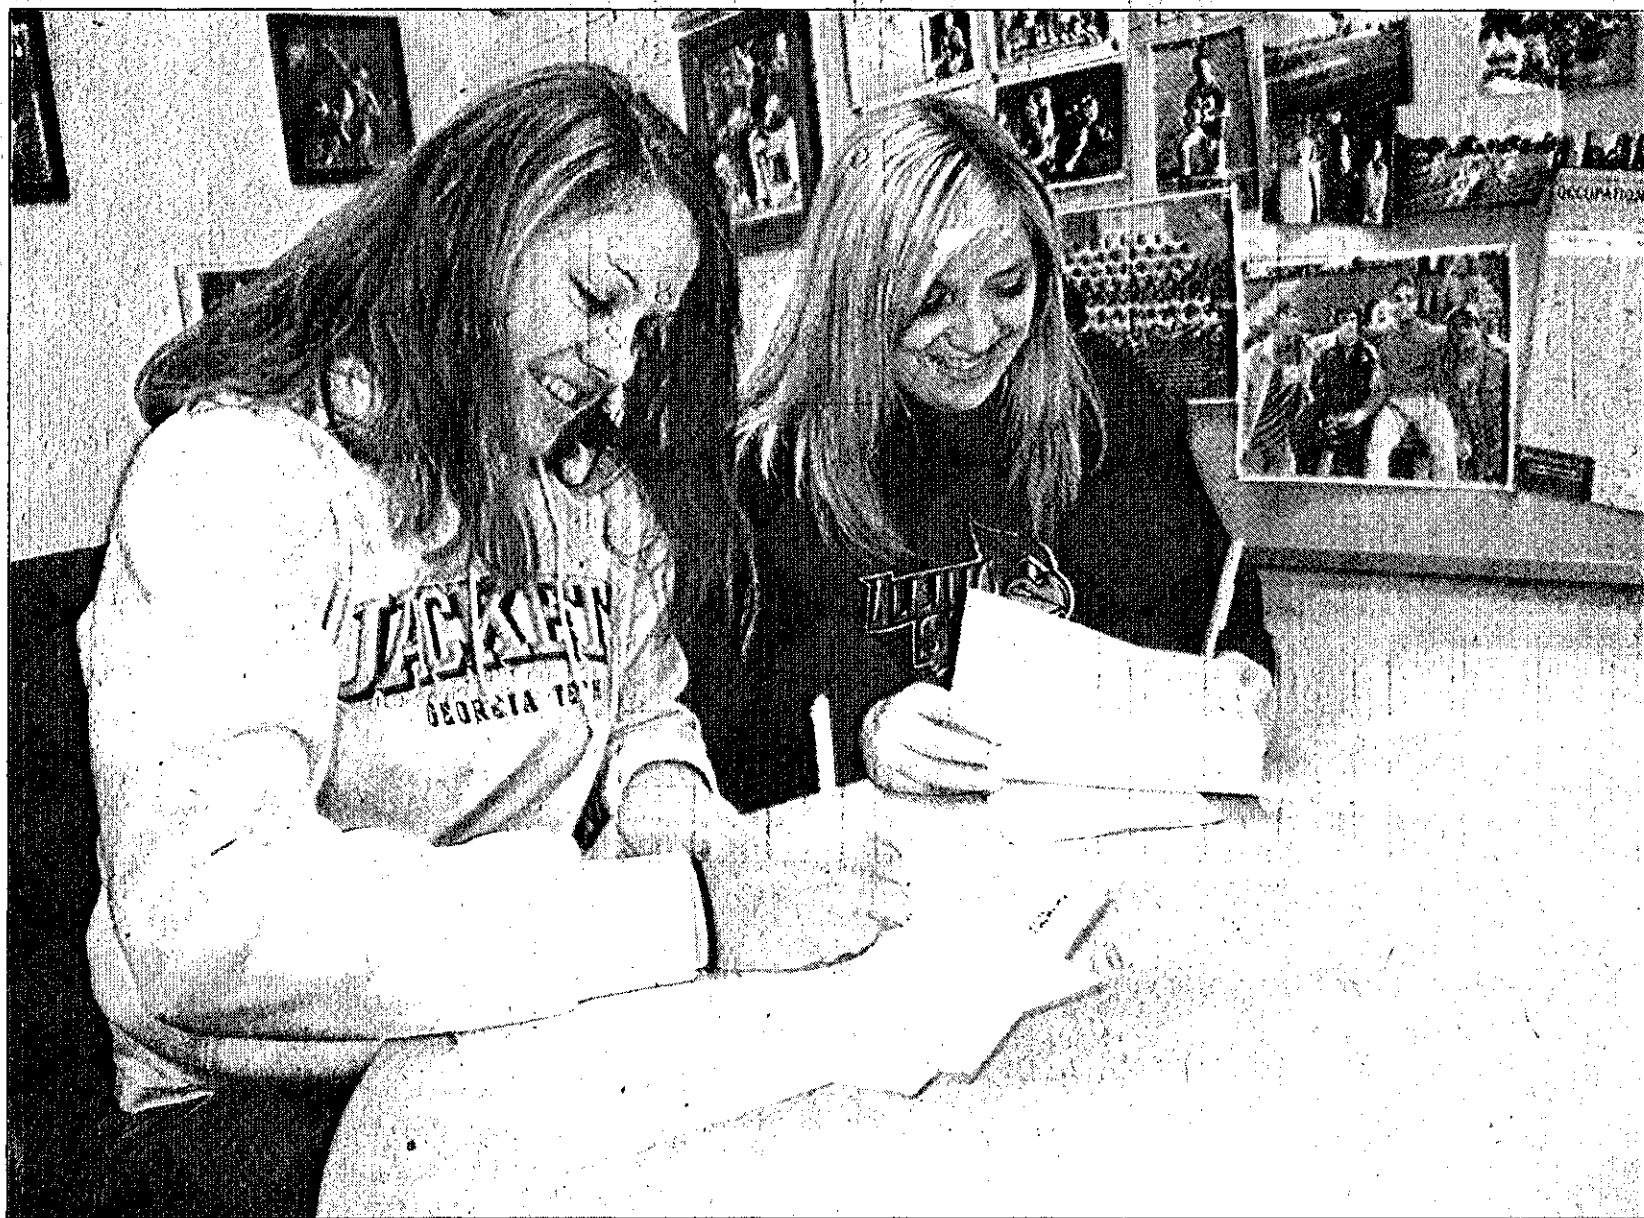

"The board's action today to expand to three classes in boys and girls track, boys and girls soccer and wrestling was based on feedback from 28 town meetings held in November and the survey conducted afterward," IHSA executive director Marty Hickman said. "Generally speaking, the feedback from our member schools has been positive regarding the class expansion that went into effect this school year. The additional classes approved today address the remaining class expansion concerns expressed by our member schools."

Having more classes makes for more fair competition for those smaller schools in each class. It really doesn't water down anything, as some suggest. Not to spout the company line here, but when Hickman spoke about expansion a few years ago, he said that state champions still would feel they were worthy and had been challenged. He was right.

There's no doubt that the IHSA's move from six to eight classes for football in 2001 paved the way for further expansion, which came this year. Volleyball, boys and girls basketball, baseball and softball moved from two to four classes, and boys golf, and boys and girls cross country went from two to three.

Now three more sports will be added to that list, while track's dilemma has been solved with the aid of those member schools who bothered to respond to last month's survey.

Grant track duo ink future

Bulldog seniors sign letters of intent

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

FOX LAKE — For three track and field seasons, Bailey Wagner and Tori Ziegler have been familiar names from Grant.

Wagner, Illinois' best shot put thrower in 2007, will try and defend her title this spring and give Atlantic Coast Conference fans a taste of what they will see in the future. She inked a scholarship with Georgia Tech.

Ziegler also has her college future in track, and she will attend Illinois State University in Normal.

Both seniors signed national letters of intent recently at a school ceremony.

Wagner won the shot put title at the state meet last spring with a throw of 46-6, and she was second in the discus.

Sophomore year, she won the shot and was third in the discus.

Wagner said she loved the Athens, Ga., campus during her official visit and called off another.

"My mom and I went on a tour of about eight colleges last fall," Wagner said. "Then I decided on Georgia Tech; I knew it was the place for me."

Wagner will throw the shot, discus and hammer in collegiate events.

Grant head track and field coach Jim Cramer was thrilled that the sixth Grant senior in as many years has signed to continue in college track.

"It is great. It is indicative of believing in the system," Cramer said. "We have a proven track record; it seems to work."

Ziegler is looking forward to competing at ISU next year.

She was sixth in the shot put last year and made the finals in the discus. Ziegler has a specific routine before a meet.

I watch the competition," Ziegler said. "That pushes me to get better."

Both athletes will enjoy the enhanced facilities a college campus can offer.

"They have a weight room for the throwers called the 'dungeon'," Wagner said.

She has throw the discus 155 feet for the state record, but not at the state meet. She hopes to add three inches to her shot put throw.

As for Cramer, he is itching to get track started, and the indoor state meet looms.

"We have a lot of seniors to replace," he said, adding that the team has won 37 straight North Suburban Prairie Division duals. Grant won the team sectional title last year.

The signing of letters of intent comes as future Grant varsity track and field participants will have a field house to look forward to, as a referendum passed last week.

"I'm jealous," Wagner said.

The duo have the matter of basketball practices to tend to and will hope for a successful tournament run.

But their track futures are set on the horizon.

New team, same problematic Prior

See if any of this sounds familiar. Mark Prior is hurt. He will start the year on the disabled list. He will throw simulated games instead of real ones. He will continue rehabbing in hopes of returning to the mound sometime during this upcoming season. He and the organization for whom he works are at odds.

Of all the things the Cubs will deal with when spring training opens later this week the persistent questions about the health of Prior will not be among them.

Prior, who signed with his hometown San Diego Padres this off-season after five star-crossed seasons with the Cubs, is someone else's problem. And he is a problem, as the Padres already are finding out.

According to various reports, Prior has shown progress in his rehab from off-season shoulder surgery. (Heard that before, right?)

Prior and his people are balking, suggesting they know what is best, that they should be allowed to rehab at the pace they feel is best for Prior. After all, they better than anybody know how best to care for Prior's price-less right shoulder.

Padres general manager Kevin Towers gave Prior a one-year deal, even though he knew Prior would likely not be ready to throw in a major-league game until June or July. (If he consulted the Cubs, Towers would know means August or September).

Towers, though, heard Prior was throwing off a mound already. He talked to one of the Padres' trainers and the GM told reporters that, just maybe, Prior might be ready to go by May. The relationship is off to a good start, huh? But then, around here, we already know how it feels to be in love with Prior.

In the end, you — and him — get hurt.

IHSA releases Class 3A, 4A pairings

Postseason set to begin Feb. 25

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

ROUND LAKE - Round Lake might be No. 21, but the boys basketball team thinks it can do damage in the Barrington sectional.

"We're No. 21 of 21, but we will play the Cinderella role and do the best we can," head coach Jeremy Fisher said. "We will use the last four games to get ready to play for it."

Round Lake plays against No. 12 Rolling Meadows at Palatine Feb. 25.

Grant once again will travel far in the postseason. The Bulldogs went to Zion-Benton the last two years, and now must travel as the No. 16 seed.

Grant plays No. 19 Barrington at Conant on Feb. 25.

Usual-power Warren is No. 9, although the Blue Devils did recently gain three wins. Warren faces No. 8 Mundelein for the third time at Libertyville Feb. 27. Warren downed Conant 53-49 for its latest win in non-conference play.

Regional finals are set for Feb. 29.

In Class 3A, Grayslake North will be the place to be for area fans with the closest regional feeding to the nearby Antioch sectional. No. 15 Grayslake North faces No. 20 Antioch at 6 p.m. Feb. 25.

Many Chicago teams fill out the sectional bracket in the first year of the four-class system. Antioch athletic director Steve Schoenfelder said his and other schools will schedule non-conference games against those teams. He said overall the one-day delayed seed meeting went well.

Fox Valley Conference power, No. 2 Grayslake Central faces a first round winner Feb. 26 at the Fenton regional in Bensenville. No. 10 Wauconda also is there, facing the host team Feb. 27.

No. 3 seed Lakes faces the winner of a first round clash Feb. 26 at River Grove Guerin.

Sectional semifinals at Antioch will pit the Vernon Hills regional winner against Grayslake North regional at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 4. The sectional final is Friday, March 7.

Volleyball postseason setup to change for 2008

• STEVENSON

It should be disturbing to the IHSA, as well as to school board members and parents around the state, that only 54 percent of the schools responded.

One thought is that those larger or smaller schools which will not be affected by expansion, didn't respond to the survey. Still, principals and athletic directors should offer their feedback.

When expansion came up two years ago, only 57 percent of the member schools responded to the survey. Of that 57 percent, the majority favored expansion. Those who didn't want expansion wanted a do-over so that more schools could respond. Other issues were addressed by the board. The unpopular volleyball regional and sectional setup - where teams played their semifinal and championship matches on the same day - was dropped. Also, a state bass-fishing tournament will be added in the 2009 school year, Class 3A cross country will have four sectionals instead of five, cross country runners no longer will be able to wear watches during their races, and football playoff games can be moved to a site other than the host school's designated home field when circumstances warrant.

The biggest news was the expansion. Because we're in the middle of expansion for so many sports, a few more will require some transition.

People get comfortable with something and naturally resist change, but with 765 member schools, expansion is a good thing. There's certainly no harm in handing out a few more trophies.

Senior night success for Grischeau

Grant, Round Lake rivalry game comes down-to-the-wire

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

FOX LAKE - Marc Grischeau wanted the last Friday night home game of his career to be a good one at Grant High School.

Grischeau has made the most of his two seasons on the varsity, and that showed as Grant outlasted Round Lake in another down-to-the-wire contest.

Grant won the season series between the North Suburban Conference Prairie rivals 2-1, and Grischeau had a 22-point effort in the 64-62 Grant win.

"I compliment Marc on his efforts tonight," Grant head coach Phil Ralston said. "He was a battle warrior tonight. At the end of the game, all five guys on the floor won the game because they were patient and worked for a good shot. Our kids did not back down; ran the offense; were patient; and

Up next

Next game: Grant at Vernon Hills, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15

Next game: Round Lake vs. Wauconda, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15

ran the offense."

Grischeau smiled when asked about a dunk he completed that night.

"We just worked to get the shots that we wanted," Grischeau said. "It's always a big rivalry game with Round Lake. My goal is to bring it every game. It was Senior Night, a huge, special night. We had a tough loss the first game against them. It was my first dunk of the season. We just worked the offense."

It took two clutch free throws by Grant's A.J. Spohr to secure the win. Grant improved to 14-8 overall with the win.

"When you are talking about rivalry games like Grant and Round Lake, you can throw out the records and you know it will be a close game, no matter what," Ralston said. "Down the stretch, we had some pretty good defensive stops."

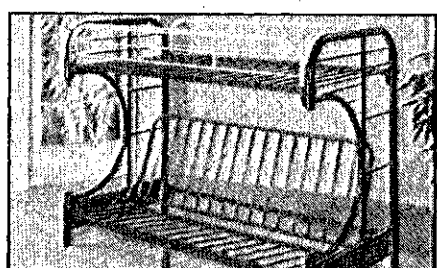

Round Lake's Vernon Randolph spent last year watching the Panthers, but this year he is a team leader. But his 31-point effort wasn't enough.

"He sees the court so well, and makes the players around him better," Round Lake head coach Jeremy Fisher said. "He gets them the ball in good scoring position. Plus, he can score behind the arc, he can drive. He was here last year, did not quite fit in. He has come back and has definitely meshed with the kids a lot better. He feels very comfortable now, and is having a good time."

Wrestlers make 'state' ment

Area grapplers head to state competition in Champaign

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@nwnewsgroup.com

BARRINGTON — Izzy Montemayor watched as his brother Jason lost a tough 10-4 decision for third place at 119 pounds, denying the Montemayors two qualifiers to the state meet.

"It fired me up," Izzy said. The Grant senior then went and dominated Josh Katz of Deerfield 17-7 in his finals at 125 pounds.

Eleven area wrestlers advanced by finishing first, second or third at the IHSA Class AA Barrington sectional. State finals are at University of Illinois.

Montemayor will make his third trip to state and brings a 37-3 record, but has yet to place. He has a clear goal for the meet in Champaign.

"I want to be on the podium this time," Montemayor said.

Grant coach Ryan Geist was pleased with Montemayor's performance.

"Izzy is such a courageous wrestler," Geist said.

Grant's defending state champ Lee Munster remained undefeated at 140 pounds and the Grant sophomore looks to repeat in 2008.

Area champions also included Lakes junior Matt Holmes. Homes won the 130-pound title, edging Dillon Pousson of Round Lake in overtime, 3-1. The two have clashed several times.

"Dillon is a tough wrestler," Holmes said. "The game plan in overtime was not to make a mistake."

Holmes said he has learned from three losses this year.

"I work on my weaknesses and any problems I may have," he said.

Scott Carlson of Wauconda, also a junior, spent the time before the finals looking at the brackets with friend senior Joe Kent of Wheeling. Carlson downed Tyler Becker of Grant in the semifinals at 145. Carlson is 36-9 heading to state.

"He tightened some things on his footwork," Wauconda coach Tom Nance said. "Beating Becker was one of the objectives because he pinned him last week. We watched a lot of film."

Carlson has a goal in mind at state.

"He wants to place, not just go to show up," Nance said.

Round Lake freshman Jose Jimenez also qualified, with a runner-up effort at 103. He lost to Max Nowry of Wheeling in a tech fall with 15 seconds left in the title, but he is 37-8 heading to state.

Teammate Vince Nicoline, in one of the day's final matches, pulled out an 8-7 win for third at 215 over Bryan Opitz of Palatine Fremd. Senior Nicoline, who sat out last year with an elbow injury, is 37-10.

Senior Josh DeLuca of Grant secured a state bid by advancing to the finals at 171 pounds, but he lost to Trevor Parlborg of Crystal Lake Central 11-1. DeLuca is 37-7 heading to state.

"Overall, I was a little disappointed with our effort today," Grant coach Geist said. "But for those who did not make it, they still have the team duals."

Grayslake Central senior Ryan Lund took the third-place qualifying spot with a fall over Shelby Temple of Grant at 135.

Ryan Williams of Carmel once again battled Logan Miller of Libertyville at 171 in a third-place match. Williams won a close 7-5 decision to earn the trip to state with a 26-6 mark.

Bryce Howard of Warren out-battled Joey Callen of Libertyville 10-7 for the third place match and a spot at state at 160 pounds. The senior is 31-8 for the Blue Devils.

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

MUNDELEIN — Carmel Catholic High School continued its tradition of having senior football players play at the college level.

Five football players from last year's state semifinalist squad in Class 7A have chosen colleges. Also signing a national letter of intent was a soccer goalie.

The following are football players who are moving on: Alaric Smith for University of Penn; Ryan Williams to Winona State University in Minnesota; Geoffrey Fields for Valparaiso University; Dan Michael, College of DuPage; and Chris Salvi, Butler University in Indiana.

Soccer goalie Joe Ferrari signed with DePaul University.

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

MUNDELEIN — Mundelein High School senior Anthony Gianaras has just signed a letter of intent to play football for Drake University under head coach Chris Creighton. He made his decision after completing four official NCAA recruiting visits to various schools. Gianaras played as an outside linebacker for the Mustangs.

Gianaras earned several postseason honors and awards including the North Suburban League First Team All-Conference. A three-year varsity starter, Gianaras led the Mustangs in tackles during the past season.

"I have been humbled by the recruiting process and the great coaches I've met," Gianaras said. "I think this is a good time to thank my family, my teachers and coaches, and especially God."

Crusaders cruise to Whitefish Bay title

WHITEFISH BAY, WIS. — What happens when you put an all-star soccer squad together? It might not be an easy task as players learn each other's moves and become a team. Most teams like this find that it is difficult to win, but this wasn't the case in the 27th Whitefish Bay Boy's Indoor Soccer Tournament at the field house in Whitefish Bay, Wis.

The WI-IL Crusaders, made up of mostly high school juniors and seniors from various travel clubs and high schools in the area, took first place in the high school varsity competition.

The Crusaders seemed as though they had played together for several years with their passing and unselfish play.

The team has three members from the Chicago Kickers-Ian Tune, Kyle Sytsma and Austin Heinrichs, along with three members from the Northwest United SC-Jack Stefanski, Jim Carlson and Chris Connelly. The team was also joined by several members of the Milwaukee SC: Chris Ourada, Michael Shear, David Shear, Kyle Gottschlick, Jan Binder, Allen Pickna and Sammy Ische with Tim Sandler from the Polonia SC.

A HIDDEN HEALTH HAZARD IS THE CRAWLSPACE IN YOUR HOME HARMING YOUR FAMILY?

Many homeowners are surprised to learn that the dank conditions of their crawlspaces can actually contaminate the air quality throughout their entire home. Because the airflow in most homes moves from bottom to top, the dirtiest, most neglected part of the home dictates the health conditions in the rest of the house.

If your crawlspace has a dirt or gravel floor - even if it's covered with plastic - your home may be harboring serious health threats, including mold, allergens, nesting rats and insects (including termites), and nasty odors. All of these problems are caused by, or intensified by, excessive moisture in your crawlspace. Unknown to the homeowner, toxins are circulated throughout the home, including bedrooms, the kitchen, and other living areas.

Fortunately, there's a simple, effective solution for a better crawlspace - a concrete floor laid over a vapor barrier. Replacing your dirt / gravel or plastic-covered floor with a concrete floor seals off the crawlspace, protecting you and your family from the health hazards associated with unfinished crawlspaces.

There are a couple of easy steps to properly install a concrete floor. First, the crawlspace is cleaned out and graded. A thick plastic vapor barrier is laid down. If necessary, walls are prepared for either a cinderblock or solid-concrete wall. Finally, 3 to 4 inches of concrete are pumped over the vapor barrier.

The concrete floor locks the vapor barrier in place, and seals your crawlspace. Concrete conforms to irregular areas like footings, curves, and under furnaces - places that would be impossible for plastic alone.

A concrete floor is the only permanent solution that will endure for the life of your home. Using only a plastic liner and roll of tape is neither effective nor permanent. Using just the plastic liner without concrete actually aggravates health problems by trapping in moisture and bacteria. Mold spores are then released into your home when the liner rips, gets punctured, or the tape peels away. Plastic liners also preclude the use of your crawlspace as a storage area.

Additional energy and waterproofing benefits are available by the application of spray foam insulation on the walls of your crawlspace. Homeowners may even be eligible for residential energy tax credits when they make energy-saving improvements to their homes.

Remodeling a crawlspace is less glamorous than working on other parts of the home, but it's critical for your family's health and the value of your home. Many insurance companies no longer offer coverage on flooding or mold damage, so investing in your crawlspace can save you significant expense over the life of your home.

To learn more about the health and financial advantages of transforming your crawlspace, contact A Better Crawlspace at 630-860-2577, or check out their website at www.crawlspaces.com. A Better Crawlspace is a member of the Better Business Bureau, the National Association of the Remodeling Association, and the U.S. Green Building Council.

Get it done right with Country Living Construction

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER

A major home improvement project is not the place to skimp on quality. Country Living Construction offers superior products, plus peace of mind, because this full service remodeling business can handle every detail of your project. Better yet, they won't break your budget.

President John M. Michael said he has 30 years of experience in the remodeling business, and his 4-man crew has a combined total of 45 years. John added that he is a certified remodeler, as well as a certified kitchen and bath remodeler through the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI). "We also keep up with new products on a continuous basis. We attend training and seminars every year," he said.

Michael estimated that half of their business is window and door replacement. "We specialize in quality, wood-clad Marvin windows and Thermo-Tri fiberglass doors," he said. John noted that they pre-finish the wood and trim on each window before installation, and they can stain the winnow any color to match existing woodwork.

Kitchen and bathroom remodeling is also a large part of Country Living Construction's business. "We carry good to high end cabinets from Merit, Huntwood, and Cuisines Laurier. As a stocking dealer of Ambella Home Collection bathroom vanities we can offer up to 70% off," Michael said. He added that they also like working with Cambria countertops, Grohe, and Kohler. "We like to focus on quality...but, thanks to our 30 year relationship with suppliers, we can pass our discount along to the customer. As a result, the customer gets a higher grade product for a lower price than the Big Box stores," John said.

Country Living Construction is so confident that you'll choose them to remodel your kitchen or bathroom that they offer a free 1-hour design consultation. John stressed that they handle every aspect of the job, even installing wood flooring, ceramic tile, porcelain, and stone. He said the company is known for its attention to detail because "I myself am super finicky."

The company also sells Hartford conservatories: elegant, sun-filled additions that allow you to enjoy every season from the comfort of your home. Michael said they offer 3 different models, all made of solid mahogany and insulated glass. He added that each piece of the structure is pre-finished by them before they bring it out to your home.

John said he stands by his work, offering a 2-year warranty. The company also has kitchen and bath financing available through Wells Fargo. "Ninety percent of our business is from referrals. Now we're even working with a third generation of customers," he said. John encouraged customers to call Country Living Construction for a free estimate, or visit them at the Home Improvement Showcase at the Libertyville Sports Complex February 15-17.

Hidden danger in CFL light bulbs

(MS) — Did you know the U.S. Congress passed an energy bill in 2007 banning the incandescent light bulb by the year 2014? That's because the incandescent bulb, the one Thomas Edison helped perfect in the 1800s, has been superseded by the compact fluorescent light (CFL) and LEDs because of their benefits to the environment.

But could the CFL really be too good to be true? Less than a month after the U.S. energy bill was passed, research in Britain has led to the UK Environment Agency issuing guidelines about CFLs. They're calling for evacuation of any room where an energy-saving compact fluorescent light bulb is broken, due to the release of toxic mercury.

According to environmental impact studies, CFLs stand to save at least five million tons of carbon dioxide emissions every year. They also are more cost-effective in the long run: CFLs are more expensive than incandescent bulbs up front, but through longer burn times and less energy usage, they save home and business owners money.

But each CFL contains 6 to 8 milligrams of toxic mercury. Broken bulbs, where mercury could be released into a home, and even improper disposal of the bulbs present separate environmental problems.

If a CFL bulb is broken, these suggestions are offered:

- Vacate the room for at least 15 minutes.
- The debris should be removed with rubber gloves. Do not use a vacuum, which could push toxic dust into the air.

- Put all broken glass and debris into a sealed bag and bring to a recycling center for proper disposal.

Other Impacts of CFL's

In a side note, mercury poisoning is not the only health implication from CFLs. Early studies indicate that people suffering from certain skin ailments, such as eczema and psoriasis, could experience flare ups. There has been a link to CFLs and migraine headaches. If you suspect your bulbs are causing health problems, see your doctor.

FAFSA COMPLETION DAY, FINANCIAL AID INFO

College students and their parents can get help with applying for college financial aid by attending a FAFSA Completion Day being held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Feb. 23, at the College of Lake County in Grayslake. All college-bound high school and current college students are invited to attend, no matter where they plan to go to college.

FAFSA is the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, which must be filled out for students to be considered for state and all federal financial aid. The CLC event is part of a nationwide program called College Goal Sunday, which encourages students to apply for financial aid. For more information, visit www.collegegoal-sunday.org. Financial aid information is also available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov or at www.collegezone.com.

CLC is a College Zone outreach center for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission.

On Feb. 23, students should bring the following documents with them to CLC: a copy of 2007 Federal Tax Information (parent and student 1040EZ, 1040A or 1040 and all W2 forms), the student's drivers license and Social Security card or Student Alien Registration card if the student is not a U.S. citizen.

"It is imperative that students fill out the FAFSA as soon as possible, because the process can take a long time, especially if a student is selected for a process called verification. Many four-year institutions have priority deadlines as early as March 1," according to Sergio Castañeda Ballard, assistant director of Financial Aid at CLC.

The CLC Financial Aid Office administers a variety of aid programs that help students reach their educational goals. Financial aid is available in the form of scholarships, grants, loans and work-study. In 2004-05, the office disbursed almost $7 million of federal, state and private funds to eligible CLC students, with over $2.9 million in refunds directly paid to students.

To learn more about financial aid opportunities or for help in applying for financial aid, call the CLC Office of Financial Aid at (847) 543-2062 or e-mail financialaid@clcllinois.edu. On Feb. 23, students should check in at the Atrium, located next to the Library/Learning Resource Center. Parking is available in lots 4, 5 and 6, near the Brae Loch Road entrance to the college. The CLC Grayslake Campus is located at 19351 W. Washington St.

HOME INSPECTION COURSE

Learn to become a certified home inspector! Beginning in March, the College of Lake County will offer a course designed to prepare students to take the state licensing examination for home inspectors. The 60-hour course is approved by the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation and fulfills its established licensing education requirements and covers all of the major elements of home inspection. Licensing of home inspectors has been required since January 2003. The course is being offered by the Continuing Professional Development department of CLC's Workforce and Professional Development Institute (WPDI).

The home inspection course is designed for individuals who have a working knowledge of contracting, the building trades, architecture or engineering. Appraisers, real estate investors, adjusters and property managers, as well as inspectors who need a refresher before taking the licensing exam, will also benefit from taking the course. The course will be offered Tuesday and Thursdays from 6 to 10 p.m., March 4 through April 29 at the CLC Southlake Campus in Vernon Hills. The cost is $675. For more information or to enroll, please call (847) 543-2615 or visit wpdi.clcllinois.edu. The course number is PRLE 40-201.

The Workforce and Professional Development Institute (WPDI) at CLC also offers continuing professional development courses in professional skills, computer skills, Commercial Drivers License, construction management, hospitality, grant writing skills, public safety vocational training, safety/highway work zone, workplace Spanish, real estate and teacher education. For more information, call (847) 543-2615 or visit wpdi.clcllinois.edu/professional.

CARICATURE ARTIST FEATURED AT VALENTINE'S DAY ART SALE AT ARTCETERA GALLERY

Local caricature artist Abel Aguilar will be featured at the Valentine's Day art sale at the College of Lake County ARTcetera Gallery. Aguilar will draw caricature portraits for customers as part of the Valentine's Day Art Sale, being held on Feb. 13 and 14.

Aguilar is a CLC graduate who has been a caricature artist for three years. He will be available to draw caricatures from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in ARTcetera on both sale days. Black and white portraits cost $10 and take about five minutes. Color portraits are $15 and take about 10 minutes to complete.

The sale runs from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and features 10 percent off all original art, including hand-made jewelry, scarves, ceramics, sculpture and photography, with 20 percent off for Friends of the Gallery. ARTcetera is located adjacent to the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art in the Library/Learning Resource Center, 19351 W. Washington St. in Grayslake. Parking is available in Lots 7 and 7A, just off the Brae Loch Road entrance to the campus.

Valentine's Day Sale shoppers who become a "Friend of the Gallery" will receive 10 percent off in the gallery shop at any time for one year and an additional 10 percent off gifts purchased during art show openings and seasonal sales. The next ARTcetera sale will be held April 30 and May 1. For information, call Christina Rasmussen at (847) 543-2405.

CARRIE IVERSON EXHIBIT AT CLC GALLERY OF ART

A new exhibit, featuring a survey of works by Chicago artist Carrie Iverson, opens on Friday, Feb. 29 at the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art at the College of Lake County. The exhibit runs through April 6 and begins with a gallery talk by the artist at 6:15 p.m. on Feb. 29, followed by a reception from 7-9 p.m. The reception will include refreshments and music by pianist Robert Zayn. Both the gallery talk and reception are free and open to the public.

Iverson is a printmaker, painter and glass artist who will exhibit works in these mediums and display a site-specific installation of prints called "Systemic," which commemorates the nearly a quarter of a million victims of the deadly 2004 tsunami. Also on exhibit at CLC will be "Wake," a series of photos of U.S. soldiers killed since the occupation of Iraq. The images first appeared in Iverson's dramatic installation, "Facade Project" at the Chicago Printmakers Collaborative.

The artist received a B.A.

from Yale University and a M.F.A. from The School of the Art Institute of Chicago. Her work is included in the Joan Flasch Collection at the Art Institute of Chicago, The Mary and Leigh Block Museum of Art, The Workshop Print Gallery (Chicago) and various private collections.

"The beauty of Iverson's work lies in its combination of masterful printmaking with groundbreaking techniques, innovative materials and contemporary subject matter," according to writer Lisa Stein, who authored the exhibit catalog. "While Iverson embraces traditional printmaking methods such as lithography, she also shows a strong conceptual bent in her work and continuously searches for new ways to present a scope of ideas."

The gallery is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m.

to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Sunday from 1-5 p.m. During the CLC spring break, March 24-30, hours will be Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The gallery will be closed March 23, 29 and 30.

The Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art is a major cultural resource for artists and Lake County residents. Established by the College of Lake County

Foundation in 1981, the gallery is committed to displaying the works of Illinois artists and increasing the visibility of nationally known artists in Lake County. The Gallery is located next to the Library/Learning Resource Center on the Grayslake Campus, 19351 W. Washington St. For further information, contact curator Steve Jones at (847) 543-2240 or at sjones@clcllinois.edu. Or visit <http://gallery.clcllinois.edu/>.

'Broccoli and Tomatoes: A Combination that reduces Prostate Cancer risk'

John Erdman, University of Illinois Professor of Nutritional Sciences, will discuss the importance of lycopene for prostate cancer prevention and the results of recent studies on this topic. Join us for a stimulating session on the latest research on foods to eat to prevent prostate cancer. This program is for dietitians, home economists and health care professionals who work with the public and is scheduled for Feb. 21, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the University of Illinois Extension, 100 S. U.S. Highway 45 in Grayslake.

In addition, Anna Keck, Director of the Foundation

Research Office at Carle Foundation Hospital in Urbana, will discuss the preventative effects of dietary lycopene from tomatoes as well as how broccoli in combination with tomatoes have a combined benefit in prevention of prostate cancer. Finally, Robin Orr, U of I Extension Specialist, will discuss how the research has been translated into community outreach that has increased screening for prostate cancer in several communities in Illinois.

Additional sessions will be offered on March 20 and will explore the influence media messages have on children's eating behaviors; April 15 will discuss the range of recent food safety incidents that have occurred involving peanut butter, chili, and raw spinach; and May 15, will focus on metabolic syndrome, the symptoms used to diagnose the condition, and the chronic diseases associated with it.

Participants can register for individual sessions or for the entire series. Registration is $10 per session. To register contact Lake County Extension at 847-223-8627; on line at lake.extension.uiuc.edu; or phone Robert J. Reber at 217-244-2851; or e-mail rjreber@uiuc.edu.

Consumers Credit Union presents 'Solving the Mystery of Credit Reports' seminar

Member-owned credit union hosts free seminar open to the public

Did you know financial experts recommend reviewing your personal credit report once every 30 to 60 days? Good advice, perhaps. And yet, reviewing a credit report can be incredibly overwhelming and even intimidating for many... not to mention the challenge of actually understanding what the contents really mean!

Consumers Credit Union can help you overcome the fear of credit reports with the free seminar, "Solving the Mystery of Credit Reports." The seminar is produced in conjunction with Consumers Cooperative Association and is scheduled for Thursday, March 6, at the Ramada Inn-Waukegan. Credit Union members and the public are invited to this educational event.

"Understanding how your credit can affect your future when buying a home, purchasing a car, or even opening a checking account can be quite confusing for many," noted Sean M. Rathjen, Consumers Credit Union President. "Many people don't know where to begin when it comes to getting a copy of their credit report, let alone know how to read it and understand whether they have good or bad credit."

"Solving the Mystery of Credit Reports" will help you navigate through this intimidating process. Cynthia Campbell, Partner Relations Manager for BALANCE Financial Fitness, will explain how to get a copy of your personal credit report and provide expert advice on how to interpret the information in yours! Please bring your questions, Cynthia will be happy to address them, too.

The seminar will be Thursday, March 6, at 6:30 p.m. (Registration 5:30-6:30 p.m.) at Ramada Inn-Waukegan, 200 North Green Bay Road.

RSVP to Gerred Riley at 847-265-5531 or gerredr@myconsumers.org

For more information about this FREE seminar, contact Sean Rathjen, President, at 847-782-4670. Consumers Credit Union is Member owned with offices in Waukegan, North Waukegan, Gurnee, Mundelein, Round Lake Beach and online at www.myconsumers.org.

Join PAMCANI and Local 93 in February to sink hunger

Everyone is invited to join the Plumbing and Mechanical Contractors Authority of Northern Illinois (PAMCANI) - teaming up with UA Plumbers Local 93, Volo; and UA Plumbers & Pipe Fitters Local 501, Aurora - for their First Annual February Food Drive to benefit the Northern Illinois Food Bank (NIFB). "Though the traditional winter holiday food drives are over, the need stays as high as ever afterwards," explained S.J. Peters, executive director of PAMCANI.

Donations of canned goods and other non-perishable food items will be accepted at selected PAMCANI member locations and at the union offices throughout the six counties all through February - as will checks made out to the "Northern Illinois Food Bank." Peters points out that a $1 donation can provide up to 9 lbs. of food due to the reach and buying power of the NIFB.

NOTICES

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS
This is to inform you that there is a possibility you may be contacted by someone trying to scam you. The scammers use plays such as offering to pay you a "processing fee" for depositing checks and sending percentage back to them. These checks are FAKE and YOU will be held liable for repaying the funds to the bank. Typically the scammers will contact you via email or via a phone relay system for the hearing impaired so you don't know where they are calling from or what they sound like. Recently arrests were made in the Netherlands, Nigeria & Canada with fake checks worth more than $2.1 billion dollars. The average victim of this scam loses $3000 to $4000. Please Be Cautious. For information on how to report a scam, go to: <http://www.ic3.gov/> This is the Internet Crime Complaint Center and is a partnership between the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the National White Collar Crime Center.
